Guido Again Is President Of Argentina

Fronidzi Remains Navy Prisoner; Situation Tense

By FRANK N. MANITZAS
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Jose Maria Guido glumly swore his oath again as president Friday, with Argentina's military coup-makers at his elbow and cries of "usurper" in his ears.

There were some tears, too, at the chilly six-minute ceremony in the white salon of Government House which failed to dispel fears of civil strife and economic hardship that have harassed the nation for 13 days.

"I am crying for my country," said one man as he watched.

As the 51-year-old former senate president took the oath for the second time, some onlookers in the salon shouted "Viva!" for Arturo Frondizi who was deposed Thursday and escorted to a navy prison home on Martin Garcia Island.

Five top-ranking generals who opposed the coup asked for retirement. Three of them were reported under house arrest.

Intransigent Radical partisans of the deposed president in Congress—where they are still the biggest bloc—charged sad-eyed 5-foot-4 Guido with being a usurper.

The nation's provincial governors, likewise Frondizi adherents, proclaimed that Frondizi should be restored.

Predicts Social Warfare

The deposed president himself, in a letter written on the eve of his downfall declared an institutional parody was being prepared on the basis of a restricted democracy and predicted social warfare.

The letter, which apparently was prepared as a sort of political will and testament, suggested that Frondizi's friend Guido may have betrayed his trust by agreeing to step into his shoes.

He said that even if taken prisoner he would not resign his office and that he hoped his friends would "act as I have acted until the ultimate consequences of this struggle for the liberation of Argentina."

The letter was written to Sen. Alfredo Garcia to be made public only if "they eliminate me physically or they take me prisoner."

In four years of stormy rule, Frondizi had a steady round of crises, with military leaders fearing the return of former dictator Juan D. Peron whom they deposed in 1955.

Fear Peronistas

The March 18 elections in which Frondizi allowed Peronistas to run openly for the first time resulted in widespread Peronista victories and ended in Frondizi's overthrow.

Guido, small-town lawyer who used to wait up late at nights to receive Frondizi's instructions on legislation, showed a streak of independence Thursday when he took the oath of office before the supreme court without the sanction of the military leaders.

For several hectic hours a new crisis brewed, with the possibility (Continued on page 2, col. 4)

Prime Minister Nehru Is Ill

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was suddenly taken ill Friday and doctors cancelled all his engagements for the rest of the day.

A spokesman for Nehru's Congress party said there was no cause for anxiety, although the prime minister was running a slight fever.

The 72-year-old Nehru was among the hosts for Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy during her recent visit to India.

Close associates said Nehru was feeling weak and ill before he was scheduled to speak in the lower house of parliament, the Lok Sabha.

But he insisted on attending and speaking at the session, which was the last of the present parliament. The newly elected house meets in mid-April.

As Nehru paid tribute to the retiring speaker of the house, he became so emotional that at one stage he was seen to wipe tears from his face.

Mid Westerners Battling Floods

SIoux CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Toiling flood fighters won their battle against the Floyd River Friday and began battling down for a new fight against the mauling Big Sioux.

While the city's flood emergency committee went home for a few hours' sleep for the first time in nearly a week, work crews began throwing up an earthen dike to ward off a Big Sioux River crest expected by early Monday.

The number of persons made temporarily homeless by runaway rivers and streams in the Middle West climbed to at least 3,400 with new evacuations at Cedar Falls, Iowa, and other scattered points in the Missouri Valley flood zone.

Blast Rocks Texas Rocket Fuel Plant

MARSHALL, Tex. (UPI)—An explosion Friday rocked the Longhorn Ordnance plant which makes solid rocket fuel at Karnack, Tex.

Mack Lale, a spokesman for the plant, said several persons were injured and that damage was not extensive. The Texas Department of Public Safety said one person was injured.

The injured were brought to a hospital at Marshall, which is about 15 miles southwest of Karnack. The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

The plant employs about 350 persons.

Dutch Marines Rout Invaders

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—Dutch marines routed a band of Indonesian invaders, killing one of them, in a brief battle on the island of Gag off the tip of Dutch West New Guinea, a military communique reported Friday.

At the same time, the Dutch said they were mopping up Indonesian infiltrators on the island of Waigeo, near Gag. They reported a number of the Indonesians had surrendered with quantities of arms.

The communique did not disclose the size of the force that invaded Gag, on the fringe of Indonesian territory, but reported the Dutch marines seized ammunition, outboard motors, light machine guns and American-made Garand rifles. There were no Dutch losses in Thursday's action, the communique said.

X 15 Flight Canceled

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An attempt to launch the X15 rocket plane was canceled at the last moment Friday when pilot Neil Armstrong observed that his engine igniter had failed to function.

The X15 remained locked under the wing of its B52 mother ship and returned to base.

U.S. To Withhold Funds For Segregated Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration moved into the school desegregation issue Friday with a decision to stop payments to certain racially segregated schools.

Starting in September 1963, it was announced, segregated schools will be declared unsuitable for teaching children who live on military bases. The federal support they now receive for such teaching will be halted, it was said.

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff announced the decision before a House subcommittee studying school integration.

The Maryland superintendent of schools, Thomas G. Pullen Jr., said he knew of no district in Maryland which would be affected by the administration's decision.

Two Top Red Officials Face Court

Hall And Davis Accused Under McCarran Act

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two top officers of the U.S. Communist party, Gus Hall and Benjamin J. Davis, were indicted Friday on charges of violating the Internal Security Act of 1950.

They pleaded innocent and were continued in $5,000 bail each pending an exchange of legal arguments on whether they should go to trial. This may go on for months.

If tried and convicted on all six counts of the indictment against them the two Red leaders could be sent to prison for up to 30 years.

After entering their plea at a brief session before U.S. Dist. Judge Matthew F. McGuire, Hall and Davis adjourned to the courthouse steps for a news conference.

Hall, 51, portly and sandy-haired, denounced the indictment as a "pro-Fascist act" and told newsmen the Justice Department has set up standby concentration camps for Communist party members.

He said "thousands—hundreds of thousands" of prisoners will be confined in these camps if what he called "this unprecedented act" results in convictions.

At the Justice Department, information officer Edwin Ruthman commented, "That's just plain bunk."

U.S. officials have estimated the party's membership in this country is now down to 8,000 to 10,000.

Hall is listed by the Justice Department as general secretary of the party.

Davis, 58, a tall, mustached Negro listed as the party's national secretary, told reporters that communism is a science that will transform capitalist nations into socialist societies.

In allowing Hall and Davis to remain free under bond, Judge McGuire gave their attorneys 30 days in which to file motions challenging the indictment. He gave government attorneys an additional 30 days in which to reply to the defense motions.

Red Ambassador Gives President Message Of Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia's new ambassador, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, told President Kennedy Friday that the Soviet Union wants "peaceful co-existence" and is convinced that present difficulties can be overcome.

In return, the President told the envoy that he hoped "greater progress may be realized in the future than in the past toward settling through patient negotiations the various problems which confront and trouble us, our respective allies, and the world at large."

The President and Dobrynin, who speaks English with an accent, engaged in the customary formal exchange of remarks which is part of a new ambassador's presentation of credentials at the White House.

The Soviet envoy, who succeeds Mikhail Menshikov in the Washington Post, told a crowd of White House reporters and photographers that it was the second time he had seen the President. He said the first was at the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting in Vienna last June.

Get Pay Raise

ROME (AP)—Italy's soldiers have a 30 per cent pay hike, raising them from 115 to 150 lire a day—18.4 cents to 24 cents.

Terrorists Strike Again In Algeria

OAS Opens Wave Of Explosions; Seventeen Killed In Algiers

ALGIERS (UPI)—The Secret Army Organization (OAS) carried out a new wave of terrorist attacks against Moslems Friday and rocked the city with plastic bomb explosions again Friday night in protest against formation of the Moslem-dominated Provisional Executive.

The Provisional Executive went into operation Friday in a slap at the OAS which had ended the temporary lull in Algiers Thursday night with 22 bomb explosions. They resumed the bombing Friday night and within an hour starting at 8:18 p.m. 12 blasts rocked the suburbs.

The extremist OAS has boasted repeatedly that representatives of the rebel National Liberation Front (FLN) would never set foot in Algiers, but five of them arrived Friday to complete the lineup of the 12-member Provisional Executive, that will rule Algeria till full independence comes.

17 Persons Killed
The OAS reacted by killing at least 17 persons and wounding 18 in Algiers alone, bringing the casualty toll since Jan. 1 to 3,326 killed and 7,166 wounded.

Friday night, shortly after the five FLN men arrived at administration headquarters at Rocher Noir, 18 miles outside Algiers, Moslem Abderrahmane Fares, 51-year-old president of the Provisional Executive, broadcast a message to the people.

Though Fares addressed Europeans in the message as "dear compatriots" and appealed for fraternal relations, the speech was a bitter one to swallow for the 1,000,000 Europeans who face being governed by the Moslem majority.

Fares praised the Moslems for showing the "most beautiful example of civic sense and political maturity." He said he shared their impatience for the "carillon of peace" and urged them to be calm in the face of maneuvers aimed at sabotaging the peace.

He urged Europeans to pay no heed to the OAS "stringpullers" whom you are the sole victims," and said "nobody in the world can excuse a continuation of the plastic bombings, burning and sterile demonstrations and terrorist murders. They get you nowhere."

Moslem Terrorism Slows
Moslem terrorism has virtually ceased under the orders of the agents of the Tunis-based Algerian provisional government headed by Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda. But even the Moslem attempts to spread harmony were irking the OAS and its European supporters.

Leaflets scattered in Algiers Friday and signed "Willaya Four" told Europeans the "Algerian people are anti-racist and tolerant." Willaya Four denotes the Moslem guerrilla sector which takes in Algiers.

The leaflets pledged that "the Algerian people will respect the guarantees (for Europeans) as it is respecting the cease-fire." A similar statement was made today in Tunis by Ben Khedda.

A strike wave called by the OAS in Algiers and Oran was almost completely ended. The situation was almost normal, except for a brief new blockade during the morning of a section of the restive Bab-El-Oued suburb where police are searching for OAS arms.

The government disclosed earlier Friday that 450 commandos of the OAS managed to escape a French dragnet around Bab-El-Oued and were now hiding out with OAS sympathizers in other parts of Algiers. They were said to have escaped in 150 groups of three each who slipped out through sewers.

Anti-Missile Test On Target A-OK

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N. M. (UPI)—A Nike Zeus anti-missile missile soared to "within easy kill distance" of a Nike Hercules missile plunging eastward from the fringes of space, the Army announced Friday.

The Army said the Wednesday exercise was automatically triggered by a ground electronic defense system in the southeast corner of the New Mexico desert test center which detected the invader missile's approach from the range's northern border.

No live warheads were used.

1,200 Pig Bay Survivors On Trial

Western Newsmen Barred; Accused Plead Guilty

By GEORGE ARFELD

HAVANA (AP)—Sitting on benches in a basketball court, nearly 1,200 prisoners captured in the crushed invasion of Cuba last April went through the second day of their military trial Friday. Morning newspapers said they already had admitted their guilt.

Western newsmen again were barred from the hearings presided over by a five-man tribunal clad in the olive green uniforms of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolutionary forces. Two of the military judges wore beards.

Pictures in Havana newspapers showed row after row of prisoners in white shirts and denim trousers seated in the sun beating down on an outdoor basketball court within the compound of Principe Prison.

The tribunal sat in what appeared to be a shaded area in front. Antonio Cejas, the court-appointed attorney for the prisoners, occupied a leather-backed chair at one side. A penal law professor at Havana University, he wore civilian clothes.

There were no signs from the photographs that any of the prisoners were in poor health.

Government officials questioned by newsmen answered they did not know what was going on inside the prison.

The trials, suddenly ordered a week ago by the Castro government, most likely are being carried out under Article 128 of the Social Defense Code. The article deals with attempts against the independence of the nation in the interest of a foreign power, Cuban lawyers reported. The exact nature of the charges against the prisoners has not been specified in government announcements.

Lawyers expressed belief the prosecution would ask penalties ranging from death to 20 years imprisonment. One source said Castro is opposed to the death penalty because of international repercussions.

Two Teenagers Kill Doctor, Housekeeper

OAK HILL, W. Va. (UPI)—Two Fayette County teenagers were charged with murder Friday in the 1961 slaying of Dr. Archer Anderson Wingrove, 84, Scarbro and Georgia Belle Broyles, 76, his housekeeper.

State Police identified them as Arnold Lee Vance, 15, and Roger Lee Belcher, 16, both of Scarbro. They waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to the Fayette County Grand jury.

State Police said both boys signed statements admitting the crime. Vance had confessed Thursday night and implicated Belcher who confessed Friday after first admitting, then denying any part in the crime.

Authorities said Vance related that they walked in the front door of the Wingrove home, took several items, then Vance shot the elderly doctor and his housekeeper.

Wingrove and Miss Broyles had been shot in the head at short range. They had been robbed and diamond rings and the doctor's wallet were among the items missing.

Kennedy Asked To Intervene In Dock Strike

Hawaii Faces Severe Crisis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hawaii's Gov. William F. Quinn urgently telegraphed President Kennedy Friday to step in and end the two-week-old West Coast shipping strike before it spreads unemployment and business shut-downs in his island state.

Earlier the governor said he had made tentative arrangements for a private East Coast line not involved in the strike, to get emergency supplies to Hawaii but this cannot be done before May.

"This will not assist our many small businesses who must shut down their doors when cut off from supplies," the Republican governor said.

Quinn told Kennedy he had just finished meetings with both sides.

"I am convinced that only your action can bring them together."

"They are hopelessly deadlocked and no talks going on or scheduled. My impression is that parties want intervention of highest order."

"Hawaii problems are mounting. Time lags in arranging shipping from East Coast and Gulf ports make it essential that no normal shipping be restored."

"Pointing out that there still could be no shipments in April, the governor said his state's shortages must be relieved either by presidential action or by military or barge shipments."

Transatlantic TV To Be Tried From Domestic Satellite

NEW YORK (AP)—Live transatlantic telecasts will be undertaken this spring by means of a communications satellite, the Telstar, if domestic tests prove successful.

This was announced Friday by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which will put the Telstar aloft in cooperation with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. AT&T is financing the project.

The Telstar is scheduled for launching in late May or June. Domestic tests will then follow between Andover, Maine, and Holmdel, N.J., the company said.

If these tests are successful, programs of 10 to 20 minutes then will be exchanged between the United States and Europe, with the satellite relaying signals between the two continents.

The programs are expected to consist of live scenes of landmarks on both continents.

Former Aide To Virginia Senator Plunges To Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—James Francis Stratton, 61, for 24 years an aide to Sen. Willis Robertson, Va., plunged to his death Friday from his fifth floor Capitol Hill apartment.

The pajama clad former congressional aide landed on a concrete driveway within a few yards of where his wife, Martha, was sitting.

Police said the plunge took place at the Methodist Building in Northeast Washington, where the Strattons had lived for 12 years.

Sen. Robertson said he was shocked to hear of the death of the man who was his aide for nearly a quarter of a century. He said Stratton, who had left his service about two years ago, was living in retirement because of ill health.

Stratton was reported to have undergone 15 or 16 surgical operations in the last four years.

Stratton was a native of Buena Vista, Va. He received his high school education there. After obtaining a business degree, he went to work for Robertson in 1930 when the senator was in private law practice in Lexington, Va.

Stratton came to Washington when Robertson was elected to the House of Representatives. He was the congressman's executive assistant for 14 years, and after Robertson won his Senate seat, spent the ensuing 10 years with him.

Mrs. Stratton is the former Martha Elkins, of Georgia, and a relative of Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga.

Surviving are two brothers, Charles Stratton, Baltimore, and Thomas Stratton, a post office employee in Buena Vista; a sister in Elkton, Va.; and another in Salem, Va.

Liz Refuses Eddie's Plea To Reaffirm Their Love

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Eddie Fisher said he made a dramatic transatlantic plea Friday to Elizabeth Taylor to affirm their love for each other, but she refused. That strengthened reports of their estrangement.

Liz, 30, has been linked romantically with Richard Burton, an English actor starring with her in a movie spectacular being filmed in Rome. There have been repeated forecasts that a divorce from Fisher was imminent.

Fisher, 33, one day out of a hospital, addressed his plea in what may have been a final bid to hold the love of the beauty for whom he broke up his marriage to Debbie Reynolds in 1959. He said he asked Miss Taylor to deny the reports of a marital rift.

Moments earlier, Fisher, pale, tired looking and lighter in weight, had denied that he and Liz were on the verge of divorce.

Eddie is Liz' fourth husband, having been preceded by hotelier Nicky Hilton, actor Michael Wilding and the late showman Mike Todd.

Fisher flew alone from Rome to New York last week, ostensibly on business connected with the movie. At about the same time, Burton's wife returned to London from Rome.

There were published reports that Fisher had suffered a nervous breakdown before he entered the hospital. He scoffed at these and said he was only fatigued from work and travel.

Frederick Co. Firemen Battle Severe Fires

Fifteen Companies Called To Action

By The Associated Press
A blaze which destroyed two homes in Libertytown and two field fires burning simultaneously activated all of Frederick County's fire companies Friday.

A 15-mile-an-hour wind fanned the flames, making it difficult for firemen to bring them under control.

Fifteen fire companies, some of them deployed from the field fires, fought the house fires in Libertytown, a small farming community north of Frederick.

The blaze started in a frame house and spread quickly to a brick-frame dwelling nearby. The only thing left standing was the brick portion of the second house.

A house across the street was damaged slightly when its roof was ignited by sparks from the two other house fires. Firemen brought the flames under control after about two hours.

One of the field fires was at Jamsville and the other three miles east of Frederick. They were raging out of control when the Libertytown blaze broke out. Libertytown is located about 12 miles north of Frederick.

At one point, firemen feared the flames would destroy the entire block of frame dwellings.

An elderly Libertytown resident was overcome by the smoke from the fires and was treated in a rescue unit at the scene. Occupants of homes clustered in the area of the blaze were evacuated.

There were no reports of how the fire in Libertytown started. But the dry condition of foliage was listed as a possible cause of the field fires.

Phoney Collectors Soliciting Funds

BALTIMORE (AP) — If someone knocks on your door soliciting funds for crippled children, you'd better ask for identification.

That was the suggestion made Friday by J. Milton Brunk, president of the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Brunk said money raised by door-to-door solicitors claiming to represent crippled children is not going to the Easter Seal societies in Maryland and the District of Columbia. He said the Easter Seal campaign raises funds through an annual letter of appeal, Easter Seal coin boxes, lily parades and other special events.

Kennedys To Rest At Glen Ora

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said today he expected the Kennedys to leave Washington for Glen Ora, the estate, around noon Saturday.

Poachers Arrested

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Government guards have arrested 50 rhinoceros poachers in southern Nepal. They were accused of reducing the area's rhino population from 200 to 30 in the past few years. Rhino horns are much sought after by tribal Nepalese who believe they possess magic powers.

Guido Again

the disturbed military might stage a second coup, this time against the man they had coaxed to take the office.

But the second swearing in ceremony was agreed upon. A military communiqué implied but did not say that Guido finally agreed to six military demands—including outlawing of the Peronistas, Communists and Castroites, a crackdown on Peronista labor unions, a veto over cabinet appointments and federal control of provincial governments.

It seemed obvious the armed forces chiefs will be on the president's back throughout his rule unless he is able to outmaneuver them.

Girl Charged With Aiding Jail Break

Two Marylanders Are Recaptured

LA PLATA, Md. (AP) — Two Washington men who saved their way to freedom early Friday morning were back in the same jail later in the day.

Captured in Washington about two hours after their 2:30 a.m. escape, the two waived extradition from the District of Columbia and were returned here by Charles County Sheriff Francis Garner and a deputy.

With them was an 18-year-old Washington girl, Priscilla Jenkins, who was charged with aiding in the jail break.

The men, Beverly Lynn Stovall, 28, and Robert Lee Walden, 20, were charged with escape. They had been in jail awaiting grand jury action.

Stovall, police said, was arrested in Washington March 7 and turned over to Charles County authorities on a grand larceny charge. Walden, they said, was arrested March 14 on charges of breaking and entering.

The sheriff's office said the men saved through the bars of their second-floor cell, climbed from a window to the roof of a one-story section of the building, and fled.

They and the girl were picked up by Washington police after two squad car patrols recognized a car as one that had been reported stolen from outside a restaurant in Silver Hill, Prince Georges County. They and other Washington police also had been alerted regarding the jailbreak.

How the two men obtained a saw was not learned immediately.

The escape was similar to one that occurred here in October. At that time, four prisoners from the Washington area saved their way to freedom with a hacksaw that had been smuggled to them. They were arrested 15 hours later.

Mystery Explosion Rips Big Missile Ship On W. Coast

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — An explosion ripped a missile frigate under construction at Todd Shipyard Friday, injuring a number of workmen.

Half a dozen men were reported seriously hurt or burned, with perhaps a dozen others suffering lesser injuries.

Cause of the blast aboard the USS England was not immediately learned.

Hull of the 533-foot craft was launched March 6 and workmen since have been putting finishing touches on the superstructure and interior compartments.

Witnesses said 200 men were aboard when the explosion occurred in the area of the steering engine room at the stern of the vessel.

The USS England is one of a new class of missile frigates. It was due for completion in about a year, rigged to fire Terrier missiles.

Former Soldier Is Indicted On Disloyalty

Accused Of Giving Reds Nuclear Data

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — George John Gessner, a former soldier, was indicted by a federal grand jury Friday on charges of giving a Soviet agent information about nuclear weapons.

The six-count indictment held information allegedly transmitted by Gessner, 25, to a Soviet agent. The federal building swarmed with federal security agents as the indictment was announced. Some of the details in the indictment are classified.

Gessner, arrested March 19 on his release from the U.S. Disciplinary Barracks at Ft. Leavenworth where he had served a term for desertion, was sent to the U.S. medical center at Springfield, Mo., for psychiatric examination.

The indictment alleged Gessner, formerly of Homestead, Pa., gave information relating to the firing system of the Mark VII, the 280mm gun-type nuclear weapon, an 8-inch gun-type nuclear weapon and methods of operating the weapons. The final count said Gessner had reason to know the persons to whom he allegedly passed the information were representatives of a foreign government.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Charles M. Douglas of Montreal was elected president of the Shrine Directors Association of North America Friday in the final session of a four-day convention.

Prince George Police Shoot Armed Man

Had Threatened To Kill Baby

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Prince Georges County police reported they shot a man Friday who had held a gun at his infant daughter's head and threatened to shoot her if police entered his home.

The man, Raymond R. Dalrymple, 25, of White House Heights a community near here, was shot in the chest. He was reported later as being in fair condition in Prince Georges County General Hospital.

Police gave this account:

Police privs. Ronald Donnelly and R. R. Ross went to the house to investigate reports of shooting. When they arrived, Dalrymple met them at the door. He was holding his 7-month-old daughter. Pointing a pistol at the child's head, the father told police not to enter.

Mrs. Dalrymple, the account continued, then took the baby but the father continued to hold the police at bay until his attention was momentarily distracted. At that point Donnelly fired.

The policemen were told that prior to their arrival, Dalrymple and another man, Clifford E. Crotts of Langley Park, had been arguing and that in the course of the argument four shots were fired.

She was reared in Lebanon, Tenn., and prior to coming to Keyser was graduated from the Peabody Institute of Nashville. On August 21, 1929, she was married to A. Bruce Arnold of Keyser. She was an active member of the First Methodist Church of Elkins, the Elkins Women's Club, the John Hart Chapter of the DAR which she served as chaplain, and the Tygart Valley Garden Club.

In addition to her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. E. Harland Smith, Stanford, Conn., and Mrs. Robert R. Rollins, Cincinnati, Ohio; three brothers, Wilbur Smith and James Thayer Smith, both of Lebanon, Tenn., and Edgar Smith, Marion, Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Norma Sullivan, Martha, Tenn., Mrs. Eleanor Webb, Dallas, Tex., and Miss Alice R. Smith, White Plains, N. Y.

Services were conducted yesterday at 2 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Elkins with Dr. Melvin S. Risinger officiating. Burial was in Maplewood Cemetery there.

City Officials Say Garbage Plan Is Failure

Two members of the Mayor and Council yesterday expressed the opinion that the daytime trial period for garbage collection has proved a failure.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming expressed their views after announcing they had received a number of complaints.

Keech said it was his understanding that one and perhaps two petitions are being circulated to have the collection schedule returned to night.

The Mayor and Council approved a 30-day trial period of day collections effective March 19 at the request of the contractor, R and R Sanitation Company. A week ago, company officials said the daytime collection was working out well and the public was cooperating.

The major changes in the collection plan in addition to daytime hours, was the elimination of Sunday collections. This necessitated setting garbage and rubbish at the curbs by 7 a.m. instead of the 11 p.m. time under the night schedule.

Under the agreement for the trial period, either party, the city or the collector, had the right to cancel at any time.

Dr. Rothstein Is Named County Health Officer

Dr. Martin Rothstein, Frostburg, yesterday was named by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to the position of county health officer on a part-time basis.

In his appointment, Dr. Rothstein will be paid entirely by the county.

Federal Aid Will Be Requested

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved the application of the Planning and Zoning Commission to apply for federal aid funds under the 701 Law.

These funds will provide a large amount of money to finance certain phases of the program such as aerial photographic surveys which will be useful in determining land usages.

The American Revolution was financed in part by a loan backed by five million pounds of Virginia tobacco. Benjamin Franklin helped get the money from France.

Girl's Death Is Ruled Accident

A Keyser automobile accident which killed a 14-year-old girl street and struck the younger girl, was ruled accidental yesterday by a six-man corner's jury paneled before Justice of Peace Madalyn Bazzie.

The inquest resulted when Ruby Louise Ridings, 14, was killed by a vehicle on Keys Street Monday. The victim's sister, Mollie Ridings, 17, was behind the wheel of the car, and the jury pointed out that she was learning to drive.

Karyl Kirsch, general chairman of the project, said cars will be washed from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. gear shift by her foster father. The project committee consists of William Zinn, when she apparently Karen Holbrook and Judy Dickerly let out on the clutch too quick.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Hold the press! "Something's Got to Give" will give very shortly with Marilyn Monroe and Dean Martin meeting together for the first time. The Navy station at San Diego is in for a treat because MM will make an appearance there for a submarine rescue scene.

She plays an aviatrix married to Dino, and is lost for so long he remarries. But fear not, the indestructible Marilyn returns to her husband. It's a very funny script by Nunnally Johnson.

A replica of Director George Cukor's own home has been built on the 20th Century-Fox lot where the movie will be filmed with the exception of the short sequence at the Navy station. Hooray, hooray, it's a made in America movie.

At least, at last, it's settled who will be Rock Hudson's leading lady in "A Gathering of Eagles" at Universal-International. Not Deborah Kerr, or any of the other movie beauties rumored, but a peach—Mary Peach to be exact—will be Rock's love in this Strategic Air Command drama to be produced by Sy Bartlett and directed by Oscar winner Delbert Mann.

Miss Peach is blonde and British, and far better known in her native England than she is in the U.S.A., although her current import with Peter Finch "No Love for Johnnie" is playing the art houses. Rock's movie is her first for an American company, but it won't be her last. She's signed for several more at U-I.

What a story behind the $507 check which Carroll Baker and her director-husband Jack Garfield will present Monday in New York at the bonds for Israel dinner. The check was made out by the German government to Garfield in reparation payment for the four miserable years he spent in Nazi concentration camps.

Such a terrifying experience has destroyed many a man. But it only intensified Garfield's determination to survive and to help not destroy others. Instead of making out their personal check, Carroll and Jack are endorsing the original as sent by the Germans to the Israelis. How O. Henry or Damon Runyon would have loved this story!

On Gloria Swanson's 63rd birthday a few days ago, she issued a statement from the Drury Lane Theatre in Chicago, "there will be no photographs taken, blowing out of candles on a cake, or any such publicity."

For your information, Gloria's birthday dinner consisted of unheated wildflower honey, two pieces of bread, especially baked for her—all a part of her organic food kick. No wonder she looks so young and has such a good figure. Sharing her birthday celebration, but not in the chow department, were Coleen Moore Hargrove and Coleen's husband Homer.

Gloria is taking her play "The Ink Well" to Miami, then to Jamaica, and after this she'll go to Europe for a visit with her youngest daughter Michele Farmer.

Edward Beener, Rockwood, Pa., has been notified by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to correct a situation on the Moores Run Road near Barton.

Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, informed the board that Beener is operating a strip mining operation in that area and changed the course of a small stream, causing the roadway to become damaged.

ship of composer Jule Styne and Sandra Church has now come to an irrevocable end, and Sandra tells me that she has returned the ring of entwined hearts which Jule gave her on Valentine's day.

"I will always say he's my best friend," she said, "but I do not want to marry yet. When I do, I want it to be for keeps. I hate the word 'divorce'."

Sandra, who is here playing opposite Marlon Brando in "The Ugly American" said that as far as she is concerned, Marlon is a livin' doll, and is wonderful to her. "I love making this movie," she said.

The tribute dinner to Father Patrick Peyton for the great work he has done over the past 20 years is set for Sept. 8. Father Peyton wrote me from Manila and sent newspaper clippings. He not only does a great job in spreading religion, but also for his country, in fighting communism.

Thirteen thousand people walked five miles to hear him, and 15,000 gathered for the rally in a torrential downpour. Jack Haley, who is general chairman of the Peyton dinner, tells me that he has had enormous response from people who want to be a part of the affair.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ashamed of what you don't know, group of high school students were on a TV panel discussion the other evening. They were each asked to give a definition of love.

I turned to my husband who was also listening to the program and asked him how he would define love. He replied "Never having been in love I wouldn't know."

I was so hurt over this remark I almost cried. We've been married for 25 years and I always thought we had a pretty good marriage. I guess I was wrong.

I know that love doesn't mean the same thing to all people, but a man would certainly have to feel SOMETHING for a woman to stay with her for 25 years, wouldn't he? What do you think about this?—L. T.

DEAR L. T.: Your answer is spelled out clearly in the next to the last sentence of your letter. Read it back to yourself and don't feel hurt. It could have been something he ate.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 14. My boy friend is 17. The other evening my parents went out and I was lonesome in the house all by myself so I invited Mike over. I have a TV in my bedroom and we wanted to watch an educational program. Mike and I were sitting on my bed when the folks decided to come home a little early.

My mother almost had an asthma attack. My dad carried on like a lunatic. You would have thought we had committed some awful crime or something. When I told Dad he should have more faith in me he ordered me to pipe down. Then he laid down a new law.

I can't go out with a fellow until I'm 15 and no guys can come to the house. My 15th birthday is four months away and I know I'll just dry up and die. I've been dating since I was 12 and now I get this death sentence. Please help me.—NOT TRUSTED.

DEAR NOT TRUSTED: The punishment seems pretty light to me. A 14-year-old who invites a boy friend over when no one is at home and permits him to watch TV in her bedroom has pretty poor judgment. And I can't say much for the judgment of parents who would allow a 12-year-old to date.

Trust must be earned. It must be built one day at a time. Teen-agers who demonstrate by day-in-and-day-out performance that they have good sense and personal integrity will get far more freedom than the goof-offs who are always in hot water.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently we had a death in the family. How should we acknowledge the many kind and thoughtful things done for us? Is it proper to send out printed cards, or must I write the thank you notes in longhand?

Also, is it necessary to acknowledge each and every commercial sympathy card? I'd ask my next-door neighbor for the answers but I'd hate to let anyone know I'm—IGNORANT

DEAR FRIEND: Don't be

Foreign Bases:
Wasting Assets?

Military bases on foreign soil often are considered wasting assets in this period of shifting reliance from the manned bomber to intercontinental missile weapons systems; nevertheless, we part with our overseas bases reluctantly. This is true of the base at Dhahran which we have held for 17 years, even though it is not a combat base and even though its continued use would perpetuate a sensitive political issue.

King Saud announced early last year that the agreement covering use of the base would not be renewed. It expires Monday. President Kennedy failed to talk Saud into seeing things our way in mid-February, prompting the Washington Post to point out that King Saud has "acquired a modern air field built by U.S. tax dollars without so much as lifting a royal finger." But at the same time the U.S. is getting rid of a considerable embarrassment.

Saud is not merely anti-Israel; he is strongly anti-Jew. The Saudis refuse to allow Jews of any nationality to enter Saudi Arabia, and that goes for the Dhahran base. They have required that servicemen stationed at the base be non-Jews. On one occasion a New York Congressman was prevented from leaving his plane at Dhahran because he happened to be of the Jewish faith.

As might be imagined, this issue plagued succeeding administrations in the United States, and in 1956 the Senate adopted a resolution which asserted that racial distinctions affecting U.S. citizens are "incompatible with the relations that should exist among friendly nations." The resolution did not name any particular nation, but Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, its sponsor, made clear in his remarks on the floor that it was aimed at Saudi Arabia.

There is some question whether American need for foreign bases will ever be obviated by missile developments alone. The British military analyst, B. H. Liddell Hart, pointed out back in 1954: "To the extent that (the nuclear bomb) reduces the likelihood of all-out war, it increases the possibilities of 'limited war' pursued by indirect and widespread local aggression. . . . For the containment of the menace we now become more dependent on 'conventional weapons'."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Woman's Eternal Problem

It would seem that despite all the laws on the statute books, women are still struggling for absolute equality with men. As a matter of fact, most men would grant them absolute equality, provided the man could get some himself. In the good old days, a man was at least allowed to believe that he was the boss of the house, but these days, no woman threatens to go back to mother. She goes out and gets a job, depriving the bread-earner of some family of his hereditary rights and dignities.

So I read in the newspapers that some mothers want to be astronauts, although my experience is that if two parents bring up three children and maybe a dog, they have a very tough time on their hands. This is surely true when the children reach the age of indiscrimination, when they doubt whether the old-timers know what it's all about. These days a woman can so cover herself with gunk, that it would take an X-ray to produce the truth. As to age, it is amazing what eye-shadow and nail polish and a pancake finish will do to a gentle person who really has nothing to hide. And as for hair, sometimes I can hardly recognize girls I know well after they have covered themselves with dyes and sprays and the outpourings of hissing tin cans.

However, what really started me off on this delightful subject is that I have received a couple of pamphlets from Texas which show a dame with a ball and chain and it really tells how tough they are down there on women. For instance, as an example of inequality, the pamphlet says:

"If your husband kills a man 'taken in adultery' with you, it's justifiable homicide. But if you kill your husband's girl-friend—that's Murder!"

As I see it, from a man's standpoint, the men in Texas must love their wives or they would not kill anyone who wants to take a wife away from a husband. On the other hand, I must say that if a husband has a "girl friend," the wife must be a nag, or a shrew, or jealous. Otherwise, why would a comfortable, contented man do such a mean thing to his one and only?

The pamphlet also says:
"A girl in Texas may legally marry at 14 years, and may marry a 16-year-old boy. Being a minor, the boy-husband cannot manage or convey his own separate property or the community property, but being a husband, he can join in the conveyance of his 14-year-old wife's separate property and pass valid title."

Where did the kids get all this property? It must clearly be the fault of the parents who are too generous. Then there are lists of things that a married woman in Texas cannot do, like, for instance, "Manage, sell or give away your own property without your husband's say-so, unless you make your assets a matter of public record," or "Go into business with your own funds without your husband's permission and signature."

As I read the two pamphlets, I wondered if any women ever got married in Texas, and as I have some friends in that state who are married and seem to be about as happy as could be, I must say that there is some kind of paradox. For instance, the Vice President, Lyndon Johnson, and his Lady Bird are Texans and proud of it. They look like a delightful, up-standing pair and from what I hear Lady Bird is a smart businesswoman while the Vice President goes about politicking.

I have no desire to be an astronaut and I do not begrudge John Glenn his honors, nor does my wife who does not practice equality in our household, she being the boss. Also I have a young daughter who is the assistant boss. But my dog, Joe, is a male and he has no rights at all which is why he barks all the time. I am a hen-pecked, abused husband who is deprived of all the good things he likes to eat by a loving wife who has decided that she wants to keep him alive.

When they order a poor man to wear a blue instead of a red necktie, who has equality?

Field Of 'Political' Questions Finally Narrowed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—One feels like giving a cheer for the Supreme Court of the United States for its temerity in cracking, even slightly, a precedent of nearly 100 years on which it has hitherto based a refusal to decide case after case involving so-called "political questions."

The Supreme Court, for example, has declined to pass upon the validity of the method used by Congress to compel a so-called "ratification" of the Fourteenth Amendment. Yet this amendment is the original basis of the whole civil rights controversy and of the several executive orders promulgated from time to time by the President.

The court has steadfastly maintained that the way the Fourteenth Amendment got into the Constitution, whether legal or illegal, was a "political question." Historians are all agreed that the legislatures of the Southern States had been accepted as legally constituted when, after the Civil War was over, they duly ratified the Thirteenth Amendment abolishing slavery. Later these states were ruled by Congress not to be members of the Union, however, when the same legislatures rejected the Fourteenth Amendment. This inconsistency has never been justified from a Constitutional viewpoint.

When the states of the South failed to ratify the Fourteenth Amendment, Congress refused to seat in either the House or the Senate the chosen Representatives of those states. A law was then passed by Congress, known as the Reconstruction Act, which demanded that, unless these states adopted the Fourteenth Amendment, they could not recover their representation in the Congress or become members of the Union. President Andrew Johnson vetoed the bill, declaring it unconstitutional. He cited the expressed viewpoint of President Abraham Lincoln that the Southern states had never legally left the Union and that there was no legal right of secession. But Congress ignored all this and enacted the law anyway over the Presidential veto. Military rule was imposed on the South, and new state legislatures were "elected" and new legislative sessions were convened. One by one, the Southern states were coerced into accepting the Fourteenth Amendment.

Lawyers and historians who for decades past have examined the facts have been aware that the action was plainly illegal. When Secretary of State Seward—an outstanding lawyer—hesitated to proclaim the Fourteenth Amendment as legally ratified and publicly said so in July 1868, he was "directed" the next day by a joint resolution of Congress to promulgate it anyhow as duly ratified. He had no choice but to comply.

Shortly thereafter, citizens sought to persuade the Supreme Court that they had been denied the benefits of a republican form of government guaranteed to the states by the Constitution and that their rights had been taken from them. The efforts were fruitless.

The Supreme Court merely said, in effect, that the method by which the Fourteenth Amendment was "ratified" was a "political question," and that it, therefore, wouldn't take any case involving this particular point. In subsequent years, the court assumed theoretically that the "ratification" had been legal and decided many cases arising under the Fourteenth Amendment itself. But there's no record anywhere that the Supreme Court ever has actually said that the method of ratification used for the Fourteenth Amendment was constitutional.

Justice Brennan, in rendering on Monday of this week the majority opinion in the case involving the rights of citizens to a fair apportionment for representation in the state legislatures, speaks of the problem of "political questions" as follows:
"We come, finally to the ultimate inquiry whether our pre-

Harris Committee Favors Satellite Bonanza For Telephone Company

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A strange argument has been taking place before the same Congressional committee that got so excited over payola to disc jockeys and the secret answers given participants on TV quiz shows.

This argument hasn't made headlines, but it will affect the future of the USA far more than the questions given in advance to Charles Van Doren on "Twenty-One." It will even have greater repercussions than the favors done by Sherman Adams for Bernard Goldfine in return for an Oriental rug and a vicuna coat.

For the same Harris Committee which raised its eyebrows over these giveaways now wants to lease away the satellite which will control the future communications between the United States and the world.

The Harris Committee, named for Chairman Oren Harris of El Dorado, Ark., is the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, and it proposes to put the management of the communications satellite in the hands of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph monopoly, plus a group of other communications companies.

This revolutionary satellite will be able to bounce TV programs and telephone messages from the United States to any part of the world. It will be the voice and show window of America. It will replace the underwater cables built at great expense in the pioneering days of the nation to Europe and Asia.

$175 Million In Tax Money

"But," said Attorney General Bobby Kennedy, in opposing this Congressional giveaway, "these space communications are possible only because we have invested something in the neighborhood of $175,000,000 of the taxpayers' money."

"I do not believe that there is any justification for turning over this whole program, so heavily subsidized by the government to the existing communications industry."

"A monopoly created by legislation should not be turned over to a favored few," said the President's brother. "This is even more true when the probable success of the venture has been assured by governmental research at considerable cost to the taxpayer."

However, Chairman Harris of Arkansas and most of his committee which were so hot and bothered about disc-jockey payola and TV quiz programs remained unimpressed. They were not even impressed when Gen. David Sarnoff, head of the Radio Corporation of America, and one of the communications moguls who would cooperate in operating the new satellite, agreed emphatically with Bob Kennedy.

Chief reason for the Harris Committee's pro-monopoly attitude is an adroit lobbying move which not many of the Congressmen will talk about.

As early as last year, American Tel and Tel quietly corralled its key local Bell Telephone managers and brought them to Washington. Before and after coming, the local managers talked with substantial people in each Congressmen's district.

The folks back home knew little about the new satellite, had no idea $175,000,000 of their own money had paid for developing it. They started pressuring Congressmen.

That's how lobbies work these days. And that is one reason why the House of Representatives will vote to turn the revolutionary new satellite over to American Tel and Tel plus a small group of telephone and telegraph companies.

Note — Kefauver's Senate Antitrust Committee has just begun important hearings on satellite-monopoly-in-the-sky which could reverse the disc-jockey-minded Harris Committee.

In Justice Department Files

In the files of the Justice Department is one of the most amazing dossiers on monopoly ever collected in government history. It pertains to the giant telephone company, and is one reason why Bobby Kennedy spoke out against more A T and T monopoly.

Justice files show that A T and T has profited from more government contacts and contracts than perhaps any other company, and at the same time it has been involved in serious antitrust litigation.

Its contracts include $2,400,000,000 for building the Sage alert system across the northern part of the United States. The contract was considered so lopsided that Ike's Comptroller General Joseph Campbell ruled it out of order but the Pentagon finally prevailed.

On top of this the Interior Department sold its phones in the national parks to A T and T, the Defense Department sold its phone lines on military posts to A T and T, and the CAB sold its $5,000,000 government land lines to the big phone company.

While most of these sales were taking place, a long list of telephone officials were working in strategic places inside the government, most of them in the Defense Department.

Sensational hearings held by Congressman Manny Celler of Brooklyn disclosed that these telephone company officials were pulling wires to have the giant antitrust suit against A T and T and Western Electric dropped, and that they were successful.

At a secret huddle in White Sulphur Springs, it was revealed that Brooke Price, A T and T vice president, was so confident of his influence in Washington that Attorney General Brownell almost pleaded with him to find some way to work out a consent decree.

Today it looks as if the Harris Committee were in the same servient boat as Brownell.

Broadcaster's Burden

By John Crosby

"Indeed it is questionable whether the human mind can encompass all the problems involved in controlling these devices even without a war. It is not inconceivable that we could blow ourselves up without help from the Russians; and vice versa."

The idea that all those thermo-nuclear firecrackers can go off in our own hands without enemy action has been expressed before. But those two sentences I find particularly formidable because they were written by John J. McCloy in "Foreign Affairs." Other distinguished minds — Bertrand Russell, Linus Pauling, to name only two — have advanced the proposition that the piling up of nuclear deterrents, far from being a security measure, could easily be the road to disaster. But McCloy, whom Richard Rovere has nominated the chairman of the board of The Establishment (American, that is), is a rather different kind of person than Bertrand Russell. And, while the words "not inconceivable" are the most tentative possible ones, the fact that they come from McCloy make that statement alarming.

All of which leads me, somewhat circuitously to NBC's Sunday night "White Paper," called "Arms and the State," whose executive producer is Irving Gittlin. I have been watching these "White Papers" with increasing admiration for some years now, because I feel most urgently that here television, in a tiny way, is fulfilling some of the vast responsibilities which it usually so consistently attempts to evade.

"Arms and the State" is an immense story. In the words of the narrator Chet Huntley, it's the story of a "quiet but fundamental change in America" which is "little discussed." Actually, the liberal magazines, especially The Nation, have worried a good deal about what The Nation calls "the warfare state." But what I find increasingly heartening is that great ideas planted in the small intellectual magazines can filter down into the mass media where they can become of genuine concern to the great American audience.

This is television's clear responsibility because, increasingly, they are almost the only ones left to do it. The same day that NBC ran it's "White Paper," The Saturday Evening Post announced a cutback to 45 from 52 issues a year. The Post was once the mass media magazine which kept the populace alarmed and informed on these matters. In the first nine months of last year, the Curtis publications lost $11 million. Why? Because television has taken the audience and the advertising. Collier's is long in its grave and Collier's, another mass media magazine, was a real thunderer — fighting the trusts, fighting child labor, fighting the good fight against injustice.

But television killed Collier's and it's certainly hurting the Post and Life and the other mass magazines which fulminated to a national audience on national issues of overriding importance. Television has drained the money and the muscle and the energies from the other mass media; now it must shoulder the burden itself. It has the talent and the dough.

Now, as for the show, the warfare state, as The Nation has pointed out, and as the "White Paper" elaborated, has changed the defense industry from a matter of security to a way of life. Whole communities are now dependent on defense orders. In a community like Farmingdale, L. I., seat of Republic aircraft, a cutback in orders for an obsolete plane is fought by the whole community because it threatens its existence.

The "White Paper" dwelt heavily on the impact in Denver, the site of the defense complex where Martin makes Titan missiles. Nearby are a good many of the hardened missile sites and NBC had some scary shots of those great steel doors opening in the ground to let out those monster ten-story missiles with their hydrogen bomb warheads — all set to go pulverize Moscow.

Defense is the contemporary pork barrel and NBC, even more extensively than The Nation, went into its degrading political effects — a Maryland Congressman arguing California is getting more than its fair share of defense contracts, echoed by a New York Congressman. In fact, it's getting to be political suicide to vote against this kind of pork. Rep. Mahon of Texas, in his soft Southern accent, points out that "a couple" of Congressmen (imagine only "a couple") who voted against the defense bill "are no longer with us."

Even more telling was a shot of the wife of an unemployed defense worker who had migrated to Baltimore, who said hopelessly: "All I know is that the bottom can fall out of government work. One day it's here and the next day it's not."

Somewhere this program missed. Lacking was a final summation or a clear point of view that held the whole thing together, as if the author and director shrank from reaching any final conclusion or pointing any moral. Still, it was a mighty interesting program on a vitally important story.

Pregnancy And Emotional Immaturity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A South Bend reader has no problems of her own but writes: "Whenever my sister gets pregnant she craves chocolate cake and butterscotch nut sundaes. It makes her fat but she claims she can't help it and says pregnancy makes her nervous and hungry. Why is this?"

Women who worry when pregnant, probably are basically worry warts. They are emotionally immature and unable to face normal responsibilities in an adult way. Some fear for their survival, the baby's health, or whether they will be able to care for another youngster. Others are concerned with the financial burden of another child to feed, clothe, and educate. Still others worry about their figure and attractiveness and whether the husband's love will be affected.

All pregnant women have reason for concern but the vast majority realize and accept the challenge. Pregnancy is a normal process and there is no sense in resorting to self-pity or relying upon cake and ice cream for relief of tension. This is consolation eating and one of the reasons why women put on weight. It is different from the craving for starch, clay, or fruit that some develop.

This is the type of woman who gains more weight than is needed while carrying a baby. The combined weight of the fetus, placenta, fluid, and engorgement of certain tissues rarely exceeds 18 pounds. The woman who gains more than 30 pounds is headed for trouble. When she picks up 15 to 20 pounds with every pregnancy, she is bound to become obese.

The emotionally mature woman handles her pregnancies in a mature way. Her attitude toward food not only preserves her figure but lessens the danger of obstetrical complications and increases the chance of having a healthy and normal baby.

Old Kim Hubbard used to explain, "When I have a problem, I think it out on a river bank. I can sit there all day with a fish pole in my hand and get things sort of straightened out in my mind. I never catch a fish, but when I come out, folks say fondly, 'There goes a true fisherman.' If I sat in my back yard all day thinking the same thoughts, those same folks would say, 'Look at that lazy bum doing nothing again.'"

Mary Lou's caller drove his own foreign sports car but his conversation left plenty to be desired. "Your new boy friend hasn't got much to him," grumbled Mary Lou's dad. "What does the lad do, anyhow?" Mary Lou explained, "He inherits."

Don Marquis didn't subscribe to that "up with the birds" routine. As he put it, "Early to bed and early to rise, Shortens your temper and gums up your eyes."

Sizeable Gains Reported In W.Va. Economy

Runs Ahead Of Recession Levels

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's economy showed sizeable gains last month compared with February of 1961 but for the third straight time failed to register overall month-to-month increases, the state Chamber of Commerce said Friday.

Only 10 of the 22 indicators used by the chamber to gauge business activity showed January-to-February increases, the third straight month in which a majority of the 22 posted losses.

However, the chamber said that despite a "lackluster" winter performance, the economy was running well ahead of the year-ago recession levels.

The index showed that during the first two months of the year, 20 business categories topped their 1961 levels by wide margins. Among those were coal production, up 17.2 per cent; electric power production, up 20.3 per cent; and total unemployment, down 24 per cent.

"Leading government and business economists seem to feel that the leveling off is temporary—kind of shift in gears as the pace of the recovery adjusts to business conditions," managing director Earle L. Elmore said. "In addition, much of the northeast and the midwest—the two areas to which our economy is most directly tied—suffered severe winter weather during January and February."

The chamber said indicators which posted the best monthly gains during February were retail sales, up 5.1 per cent, and dollar value of building permits, up 17.3 per cent.

Total employment inched upward from 527,300 to 527,400 while total unemployment dropped 9.6 per cent to 76,100, the chamber said.

Indicators posting the sharpest drops during February included electric power production, down 11.6 per cent; consumers sales tax collections, down 22.9 per cent; and cash farm income, down 17.3 per cent.

Delegates Back Liquor-By-Drink

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—An estimated 500 delegates to the West Virginia Restaurant Association's annual convention went on record unanimously Friday in favor of ratification of the liquor-by-the-drink amendment in November.

The convention approved a resolution stating that the amendment would not only help the food and lodging business but would mean "untold economic progress" for the state.

Association members elected M. C. (Bob) Phillips, Charleston, as president succeeding Clem Jones of Huntington, who is also president of the West Virginians for Moderation organization backing the constitutional amendment.

Natalie Austin, Beckley, was elected first vice president; Charles Rutherford, Fairmont, second vice president, and Floyd Walker, Huntington, treasurer. George Spruce, Charleston, was re-elected executive secretary.

The four-day convention closes Saturday with a banquet and dance.

KHS Juniors List Delegates To State Camp

KEYSER—Five members of the junior class at Keyser High School have been chosen by their fellow students as delegates to the annual Mountaineer Boys State and Rhododendron Girls State to be held at Jackson's Mill in June.

Service organizations from the city will sponsor Richard Criser and Christopher Franklin to Boys State while Keith Johnson will be sponsored by Washington-Smith Post, American Legion. Selected to attend Girls State were Jeannette Shepp and Suzanne Shelton.

The week-long camps are sponsored by the various American Legion Posts and Post Auxiliaries from throughout the state and are based primarily on the study of state government, the promotion of good citizenship, and information on state law through the establishment of mock legislatures.

Faculty advisor for the group is Owen S. Schaeffer, chairman of the junior class sponsors, and himself a candidate for the House of Delegates in the forthcoming election. The balloting for the five representatives from Keyser High School was conducted under his supervision.

Attendance Drops At KHS

KEYSER—The lowest attendance for the current school year was recorded during the past month according to James W. Goldworthy, principal at Keyser High School, who said the total attendance was 92.89 per cent.

Students in Virgil Hull's room retained the attendance banner by scoring 97.13 per cent. Two new students enrolled during the month and five withdrew.

Mr. Hull's room was followed by Ernest Courrier's, 96.03; Mrs. Frances Idleman, 95.49; James McLucas, 95.18; and Mrs. Virginia Wright, 95.07. Percentages by grades included: juniors, 94.33; seniors, 94.22; sophomores, 92.92; eighth grade, 92.77; freshmen, 92.77; freshmen, 92.30; and seventh grade, 92.21. There is now an active enrollment of 1104 in the high school.

Nat Dantzic Again Directs Minstrelks

Keyser Event Slated Apr. 26-27

KEYSER — Tentative plans have been announced for the 1962 edition of the Keyser Minstrelks by Nat Dantzic, who has again been named director of the annual home talent production sponsored by Keyser Lodge No. 1916, BPO Elks.

The event is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, April 26 and 27, in the Keyser High School Auditorium.

Dantzic said that top talent from the area is being secured and a complete new show will be presented, including new scenery, songs, jokes, folio, and afterpiece.

A feature of the minstrel portion of the show will be the traditional Itamborine routine by the End Men. Dixon's Dance Studios of Cumberland will direct the dancing and present several outstanding dance routines during the folio.

The afterpiece will feature the Antioch Special with engineer Calentine at the throttle and conductor Daskal ringing out the old familiar "All Aboard" for Bonnie View, New Creek, Ridgeville, Antioch, and all points South.

Practice sessions are being scheduled and rehearsals for the chorus and End Men are expected to get underway next week.

Dantzic, who has had wide experience in the entertainment field, was a member of several nationally-known minstrel shows and has to his credit a long list of outstanding minstrel shows presented in Keyser and the surrounding area.

Tickets will go on sale April 9 and reserved seats for both performances will be available.

Wool Pool Changes Noted In Hampshire-Mineral

KEYSER — The Hampshire-Mineral County wool pool will be handled in an entirely different manner in 1962, according to Mineral County Agent Emory L. Prunty, who said the decision was made at a meeting held in Romney in early March.

In the past the wool from this pool has been assembled, graded, and then shipped to Boston where it was stored until sold. Especially in recent years this system has not netted the producer as much as he could have received from other outlets, largely because of the expenses involved in handling, transportation, storage, and other costs. The total cost of marketing the wool last year was $8.29 per hundred pounds.

Under the new system, it is hoped that costs can be reduced to around $2. per hundred or possibly even less.

This is made possible by eliminating many of the steps in handling such as grading and storing.

Hearing Waived On Charge Of Bank Robbery

Hudson Fails To Post $15,000 Bond

SPENCER, W. Va. (AP) — George Bennett Hudson, a 67-year-old retired coal miner, waived preliminary hearing Friday on a charge of armed robbery of a Roane County bank and was held for action of the May grand jury.

Hudson was unable to post $15,000 bond when he appeared before Magistrate Ross Adams. He was returned to the county jail where he has been held since the $6,000 holdup of the Poca Valley Bank at nearby Walton on Tuesday.

Hudson told police he was in debt and needed money in a hurry. His daughter, Leola Catherine, 17, and his son, Charles Henry, 13, were released to their mother earlier in the week after she posted $1,000 bond for each youngster.

The children also were charged with armed robbery.

State Police said the children were with their father at the time of the robbery and the girl drove the getaway car for a time.

The three were arrested at a road block about 30 miles from Walton 50 minutes after the hold-up. The money was found in the back of the car.

The Hudsons live in the Valley Fork section of adjacent Clay County and were taken into custody a few miles from their home as they drove along W.Va. 36.

Martinsburg Is First Of 11 Contests

Hub Team Off Card First Time 32 Years; 11 Tournaments Set

The men's golf team of the Cumberland Country Club will put a 15-year, 65-match winning streak on the line when it launches its 1962 season with the Martinsburg Country Club, Sunday, May 20, it was announced yesterday by Carroll Boggs, CCC pro.

Teams representing the CCC have gone undefeated in home matches since 1946.

Eleven matches have been lined up for the season, six at home and five away.

Fountain Head Missing

Conspicuous by their absence from the schedule will be the golfers of the Fountain Head Country Club of Hagerstown who have been a fixture on the CCC card since that club was founded about 32 years ago. Fountain Head has requested that the annual match with Cumberland be cancelled because the Hub City team will play in the Middle Atlantic Golf League this year.

The CCC-Fountain Head matches always have been outstanding and in recent years as many as 80 local players have gone to the Hub City to participate in the tests.

The complete schedule of inter-club matches for this year is as follows:

Sunday, May 20—Martinsburg, here.
Wednesday, May 23—Somerset, Pa. here.

Sunday, June 10—Kingwood, away.
Sunday, June 17—Frostburg, here.
Wednesday, June 20—Somerset, away.
Sunday, July 15—Kingwood, here.
Wednesday, July 25—North Fork of Johnstown, here.
Wednesday, August 8—North Fork of Johnstown, away.
Sunday, August 12—Martinsburg, away.
Sunday, August 19—Frostburg, away.
Sunday, Sept. 9—Beaver Creek, of Hagerstown, here.

Tournament Dates Set

Six pro-am tournaments and five twilight tournaments have been lined up by Boggs for club members during the season.

The pro-ams will be staged on Sundays and the dates are May 6, June 3, July 1, July 29, August 26 and September 16.

Nine-hole twilight tournaments are scheduled for the following Fridays—June 1, June 22, July 20, August 10 and August 24.

Dates for the spring handicap tournament and the fall championship even will be announced later.

Golf Shop Now Open

The CCC golf shop is now open with Richard "Dick" Buskey, assistant pro, on the job. Buskey expects to appoint his assistants within the next several days.

Tiger-Hank Bout Could End Quickly

Paret Fight May Affect Outcome

NEW YORK (AP) — The repercussions of last Saturday's Benny (Kid) Paret-Emile Griffith fight could affect the outcome of Saturday night's scrap between middleweight contenders Dick Tiger of Nigeria and Henry Hank of Detroit.

The hard-hitting 160-pounder will meet in a 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden, scene of the 12th-round technical knockout defeat by Griffith in their welterweight title bout.

The Tiger-Hank fight will be telecast (ABC TV 10 p.m., EST) nationally. Tiger is the 8-5 favorite.

A cut or one jarring punch could be enough to force a sudden termination of the bout. The recent history of boxing shows referees and ring physicians have been quick to halt hostilities in fights that come on the heels of a fatality or a serious injury to a boxer.

The National Boxing Association rates Tiger, 32, as the No. 1 contender behind champion Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah. Ring magazine, which recognizes Britton Terry Downes as champion, has Tiger the No. 2 contender behind Fullmer.

Hank, 27, is ranked fourth by the NBA and fifth by Ring. The referee won't be named until fight time. Scoring will be by the rounds system.

Vinegar Bend Mizell allowed three runs and six hits in six innings for the Pirates and was the winner as Larry Foss finished up. St. Louis 000 200 001—4 8 2

Rookie Sam Ellis and veteran Johnny Klippstein combined to pitch a seven-hitter for the Reds. Detroit's only run, in the third inning off Ellis, was unearned.

Post and Gaines, who hit .315 at Indianapolis last year, hit homers back to back in a five-run Cincinnati rally in the fourth inning.

Ricker Testimonial

Bush Liked Britton

Set For CCC Apr. 17

Hamilton's 643 Tops

By C. V. BURNS

A TESTIMONIAL dinner honoring Vic Ricker, who promoted and served as matchmaker of professional boxing shows here from the 1920s through 1949, will be held at the Cumberland Country Club, Tuesday, April 17, according to Lester Deneen, one of Cumberland's dyed-in-the-wool fight fans who heads the committee on arrangements.

Ricker, who has arranged more fight entertainment for Cumberland than any other promoter, now operates the Fort Cumberland Barber Shop where his many friends still gather to talk about the days when this city was recognized as one of the best "fight towns" its size in the nation.

Not only has Ricker promoted shows here but he has helped other promoters in lining up talent for their fight cards. He spent some time barbering in Youngstown, Ohio, where he was associated with Promoters Mick Stambaugh and Al Zill. That's how so many good fighters from the Buckeye State appeared in local shows staged by Vic.

When professional boxing was at its peak here in the 1930s, Ricker's business office was Jesse Hopper's "Tonsorial parlor" on Liberty street across from the old Liberty Theater. That place was a beehive of activity prior to boxing shows and the fight mob used to gather on Liberty street to "size up" the visiting pugs as they weighed in.

Vic brought Jack Dempsey here to referee the main bout in one of his shows, promoted all of "Sockey" Trenaman's fights, staged the Patsy Perroni-Chuck Burns and Harold Scarney-Chuck Burns battles, had Willie Davies in with Ernie Brooks of England in a sizzling flyweight scrap, introduced Jimmy Perdue, the young welter star from Huntington, W. Va., to the local fight fans and brought Johnny Carey, the Erie K.O. artist here.

How about Cleo McNeil, the clever negro scrapper from Ohio. Cuddy DeMarco, the rough and tumble belter from Harry Greb's stable, Emil Joseph, Holly Mims, and Sammy Angott, the NBA lightweight champion.

Just from memory here are some more names that graced the Ricker fight programs:

Norm Genet, "Slam Bang" Harry Taylor, Teddy Welsh, Cowboy Padgett, Bobby Richardson, Marty Simmons, Ira Hughes, Farmer Bill Swerin, Johnny Donnelly, Sylvan Bass, Joey LeGray, Young Zabish, "Hokey" Jackson, Jimmy Richards, Marion Klingensmith, Rudy Cedars, Bruno Sala, Joe Proctor, Sammy Finnazzo, Billy Miller, Lloyd Pine, Billy Nitchey, Young Xeny, George Pavlick, Dick and Steve Conlon, Mimi and Sammy Adragna, K.O. Jitney, "Biff" Jones and last but not least Ken Overlin, who in 1940 was recognized in many states as the middleweight champion after he whipped such good boys as Cefnerina Garcia, Steve Belloise, Ezzard Charles, and Al Hostak and battled Fred Apostoli to a draw.

Buck Penner, Howard Bush, Bobby Green, Buck Griffith, Fay Keiser, "Buster" Reed, Buddy Crass and K.O. Yutzey were the local scrappers who appeared in many of Ricker's shows. Ricker managed K.O. Yutzey, the local welterweight, who figured in many a thrilling scrap.

Vic's last show was on April 25, 1949, at the State Armory where Bill Jones and Al Gaultiere and Mims and Klingensmith headed the card.

A native of Martinsburg, W. Va., Ricker did his first barbering in Charley Goodnow's shop on Virginia Avenue at the end of the old street car line. At the same time in the same neighborhood Col. Nelson W. Russler, who also came from Martinsburg, and managed Cumberland Colts baseball teams for many years, had his barber shop. Vic also barbered at the old Windsor Hotel shop.

The Ricker testimonial dinner next month promises to be quite an affair.

THE DEATH of Jack Britton in Florida on Monday attracted the attention of Howard "Red" Bush, the Cumberland middleweight, who boxed at New Jersey and New York clubs in his heyday. Bush, now an employee of the city street department who works extra as a truck driver for the Times-News, recalls that Britton used to visit the Pioneer Club gym in New York after his retirement from the ring to watch Dan Morgan's boxers train.

Morgan, who was dubbed "Dumb Dan" but was one of the smartest boxing managers in the business, managed Britton in the days Jack held the welterweight title and he also handled Bush.

"Britton must have been a great boxer in his day judging from the comments I heard about him," Bush declared. "I talked with him many times at the gym and he was a very friendly man."

Those who saw Britton fight Jack Perry at South End Park in June 1919 agree that he was in a class by himself when it came to boxing.

ROLAND HAMILTON, Paw Paw high school junior, and Michael Long, LaSalle senior, who finished 1-2 in the area scoring race for the regular basketball season with 569 and 545 points, respectively, also finished in that order overall, including tournament games. The final score was Hamilton 643 for 23 games and Long 620 for 24 contests.

Hamilton and Tommy Jividen of the West Virginia School for the Deaf, were the only new players to make the "Thousand Point Club" this season. Jividen wound up his career with 1,268 tallies, including 515 in his senior year. Hamilton has a total of 1,027 with another year remaining.

Long wound up with a career total of 1,834 and Orville Harper of Circleville, finished with 1,658. The all-time mark of 831 for a 26-game season, including tournaments, was set by Bill Maphis, of Romney in 1960. His 2,504 for a 4-year-career of 92 games also tops.

THIS IS THE YEAR the Yankees lose the pennant and the season the Dodgers play a world series in their new park at Chavez Ravine.

At least that's what Don Schiffer has to say about two of the games most talked about teams in his new 1962 Major League Baseball Handbook published by Pocket Books, Inc.

His ratings in the A. L. are: Tigers, Yankees, Orioles, Indians, White Sox, Twins, Red Sox, Athletics, Angels and Senators. In the N. L. he picks: Dodgers, Cardinals, Giants, Braves, Reds, Pirates, Cubs, Mets, Phils and Colts.

Each of the 20 clubs is extensively covered in the 208 pages. There are also biographical sketches of 300 players.

Don Schiffer's handbook should settle a lot of arguments.

DO YOU KNOW that Lefty Grove is the only major league pitcher to win more than 30 games in the past 41 years.

Lefty posted a 31-4 record in 1931. Jim Bagby of Cleveland was 31-32 in 1920. "Dizzy" Dean had a 30-7 record for the Cards in 1934 and that's tops for wins in the N. L. since Grover Cleveland Alexander's 31-10 in 1915.

Grove headed the A. L. in least earned runs eight times and no body ever has approached that mark.

NIGHT NO-HITTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds pitched the first major league no-hitter at night against the Brooklyn Dodgers on June 15, 1938.

Angels Purchase Frank Leja From St. Louis Cardinals

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Angels announced Friday that they had obtained first baseman Frank Leja from the St. Louis Cardinals as a waiver claim for $20,000.

The powerfully-built Leja, 26 years of age, stands 6-foot-4 and weighs 205 pounds. He originally was signed by the New York Yankees for a bonus estimated at more than $50,000. He is a native of Holyoke, Mass., but now makes his home in Nahant, Mass.

Manager Bill Rigney said the signing of Leja frees Lee Thomas from alternating with Steve Bilko at first base and will permit Thomas to be used solely in the outfield.

Allison Belts Three, Twins Bow, 6-5

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Bob Allison hit three home runs Friday but they weren't enough as the Minnesota Twins and Camilo Pascual blew a 4-0 lead and lost to the White Sox, 6-5.

An error by Don Mincher at first base let in the third and a winning run of the ninth inning after the Twins had a 5-3 lead. Pascual was touched for a home run by Jim Landis, single by Charlie Smith and double by Camilo Carreon.

Hebert Grabs Azalea Lead

Has Stroke Edge With 2-Round 137

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Jay Hebert parlayed his ability to play well in the wind with stroke-saving chipping Friday to shoot a three-under-par 69 and move into a one-shot lead in the $20,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament at the halfway mark with a 137 total.

The handsome 39-year-old former Marine lieutenant, playing out of Miami, Fla., led by one stroke over reigning National Open champion Gene Littler, who shot a 68 Friday.

Jim Ferrier, the first-round leader, shot par 72 for a third-place tie at 139 with Dave Marr, whose 66 was the best round of the tournament thus far.

In all, 27 players broke par and 16 equaled it on the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

It took a score of 148 or better to survive the cut for the last two rounds. Sixty-seven pros made it.

Very much in contention at 140 were Dave Ragan, Mason Rudolph and Billy Maxwell.

Frostburg State Wins; Potomac State Splits Twin Bill

Kuhn Hurls, Bats Bobcats To Victory

Lefty George Kuhn, of Smithsburg, pitched and batted Frostburg State Teachers College to its first victory of the 1962 campaign yesterday as Coach Harold Cordts' Bobcats opened the season with a 12-2 decision over Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City.

Kuhn turned in a six-hit pitching performance, struck out ten batters, collected three hits in four official trips and batted in five Frostburg tallies. In the fourth inning Kuhn, a left-handed pitcher, drove in two runs with a timely double and in the fifth he homered over the centerfield fence with two mates aboard.

Houser, the first of three Hagerstown pitchers, was tagged with the loss. Hawkins and McGill finished on the mound for the Nighthawks.

One of the six blows yielded by Kuhn was a circuit wallop by Hawkins that cleared the left field barrier in the fifth frame.

Tom Smoot and Ted Femi collected two hits each for the Bobcats who amassed a total of nine safeties.

Frostburg opens its home schedule Thursday, April 5 with Altoona Campus of Penn State at 2 p. m.

ABL Growth Linked With Polaris

Admiral Pleased With Attitude, Work Of Employees

Rear Admiral I. J. Galantin, director of the Navy's Polaris program, predicted yesterday that Allegany Ballistics Laboratory will continue to grow along with the Polaris program.

The admiral could not specifically point out future expansion plans for the ABL facility, but said that on the basis of talent, know-how and special skills, the local plant undoubtedly has the potential to help develop the Polaris program.

The Navy officer also said he was "very impressed and pleased" with the attitude of ABL employees toward the missile program.

Admiral Galatin made these statements during a press conference yesterday afternoon, at Navy-owned ABL, which is operated by Hercules Powder Company.

Earlier in the day the admiral, other Navy officials and officials of the Hercules Company toured the facilities at the plant at Rocket Center, W. Va.

Adm. Galatin said the Polaris fleet ballistic missile is the Navy's highest priority program and a great deal of the work done at ABL helped bring about much of its success thus far.

Important Deterrent

He said the Polaris program is here to stay, since submarines equipped with Polaris missiles are an important deterrent to nations thinking of war. Gone are the days when places on the earth can be isolated from long-range missile attacks, he said.

However, Polaris submarines, which will number 41 in the next several years, will be harder to find at sea and will play a vital part in the nation's defense, the admiral said.

Admiral Galatin was asked at the press conference if Russia had anything to equal the Polaris program. He replied that the Soviets do not. He added that the missiles carried by Russian submarines have shorter ranges and must be fired while the submarine is on the surface, unlike the Polaris missiles which can be fired while the submarines are submerged.

Admiral Galatin also discussed the various Polaris missiles and said the original Polaris A-1 will gradually be replaced in the submarine fleet with the A-2 model.

A-3 Ready In 1964

The A-3 missile is also being developed at this time and is expected to be in use by 1964. The A-3 range is expected to be 2,500 nautical miles, compared to ranges of 1,200 nautical miles for the A-1 and 1,500 nautical miles for the A-2.

Admiral Galatin was asked to express his opinion on the use of solid fuel versus liquid fuel in missiles. He replied solid fuel is essential for a reliable and safe system, especially when the missiles are used in submarines. Liquid fuel poses many problems at sea which solid fuel does not, the admiral said.

He said submarines insist on quality and reliability since their lives depend on the material and equipment which they use. These men must spend long periods at sea, Adm. Galatin said, and the submarines they operate and missiles they carry must be of the highest quality.

Addresses Employees

Before holding his press conference, Admiral Galatin addressed employees at ABL and cited them personally for the outstanding work they were doing.

He said it was probably difficult for the employees to realize the importance of the work they are doing since they are far removed from the finished product.

However, Admiral Galatin said ABL employees are helping keep up the Navy tradition of always being able to adapt current, powerful and useful weapons for national defense and scientific development.

Admiral Galatin and his visitors were welcomed at ABL by John C. Foster, ABL manager, and Lt. Cdr. E. P. Loflin, branch representative of the Navy's Bureau of Weapons at ABL.

Visitors and guests also heard talks on the operations of the plant by Richard L. Winer, assistant plant manager; Dr. Norman F. LeBlanc, manager of the Polaris program at ABL; Dr. Rudolph Steinberger, manager of ABL's Research Division, and Dr. Richard S. Fey, manager of the ABL Development Division.

Tentative Pact Is Reached For Building Trades

Includes Revisions In Fringe Benefits

A tentative agreement on a new contract was reached here yesterday by representatives of the Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council and area contractors.

Harry L. Hickie, president of the council which represents some 13 building craft unions, said the agreement is subject to approval by the affiliated unions.

He said the pact provides revisions of some fringe benefits.

The tentative agreement was reached yesterday morning as representatives of the unions met with officials of the George F. Hazelwood Company, John I. Vandegriest Company and the George Construction Company.

The pact would become effective May 1 and would include the Teamsters, Carpenters, Iron Workers, Painters, Cement Finishers and Laborers unions. Several affiliated locals negotiate directly with sub-contractors.

Informed sources said the agreement calls for a two-year contract.

It reflects conditions in the construction industry, a spokesman said, and is aimed at encouraging building in the Cumberland area and keeping labor costs for construction on a competitive basis.

The agreement would affect work in the Cumberland area, including the modernization program under way at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and construction work at Sugar Grove, W. Va., where construction work at Sugar Grove, W. Va., where the Navy is building the world's most powerful radio telescope.

Wage rates for Cumberland area building work are traditionally kept on a competitive basis with larger cities of the area. For instance, the $4.05 structural steel rate is 40 cents less than in Pittsburgh, five cents under Baltimore's and 55 cents less than Philadelphia.

Gasoline Price War Continues

The gasoline price war continued yesterday as several more service stations met the current price of 23.9 cents a gallon for regular grades. The price is eight cents a gallon below "normal," dealers said.

A Sinclair representative said yesterday that his company cut its delivered price on Thursday. He said some who had read that Sinclair prices were reduced earlier got the impression they had been overcharged for gas delivered Tuesday or Wednesday.

At least two Sinclair stations cut their prices only yesterday morning.

Texaco said it was the last of the major companies to conform, having reduced its prices on Thursday, along with Sinclair, American and Sunoco.

Meanwhile, the price war seemed to have paused for a time at the 23.9 price, although at least one dealer in a brand-name gasoline was selling a penny below that, at 22.9.

Hudson, which started the latest round of price cuts last Friday by reducing its price from 24.9 to 22.9, was holding steady at that price yesterday. Hudson normally sells a penny a gallon below the branded gasolines.

The GOP candidate is a resident of Silver Spring and practices law in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

He plans to open campaign headquarters in Baltimore and Salisbury within the next 10 days and opened a campaign center in Bethesda two weeks ago.

'Honeymoon' Ends As Rivals Put On Gloves

Lusty Exchanges Mark Campaign

By The Associated Press

The Maryland Democratic honeymoon definitely was over Friday after four years.

The son of Gov. Tawes said a claim by rival George P. Mahoney was untrue. . . . Another candidate for governor jumped on Mahoney for dragging relatives into the campaign. . . . A candidate for U.S. Senator called on opponent to prove he always tells the truth.

And in sideshows, a Baltimore County leader accused his rival of political blackmail. . . . In Baltimore City, one district leader jeered that another was guilty of practicing what he complained against.

The lusty exchanges brought on by approach of the May 15 primary was reminiscent of the bruising years prior to 1958.

Hard hitting primaries were blamed by many Democrats for a Republican occupying the executive mansion for eight years and two in the U. S. Senate from Maryland since 1959.

Breaks GOP Hold

Tawes broke the GOP hold on the governor's chair four years ago with insistent pleas for party harmony.

Mahoney was involved in the two preceding Democratic primaries for governor and three for the U.S. Senate.

He has come out swinging again at Tawes. His latest blow was that the governor's son and a partner in an insurance company had received approximately $100 million in bond business on state road contracts since Tawes was elected.

"Absolutely untrue," replied Harry W. Rodgers, the insurance partner of the governor's son. Rodgers conceded they had put up bond to guarantee about $2 million on road work by contractors.

The governor's son, Philip, concurred in Rodgers' reply.

The state does not require the names of performance bond firms to be recorded. Two bills to list them in addition to the name of the contractor did not get out of committee at the Legislature earlier this year. Sponsor of one was Del. Blair Lee III, a candidate for Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate on the Mahoney ticket.

Turns On Mahoney

David Hume, also trying to prevent renomination of Gov. Tawes for a second term, turned on Mahoney.

"I would like it clearly understood that I am not running against any member of what person's family unless there is positive proof which I can submit at the time to document some collusion or joint action of the family members," Hume stated.

Hume said Mahoney in a television appearance Thursday night was "the same old George linking a candidate with his son and promising proof later, snarling his character assassinations and in general conforming to a pattern which has insured his defects in the past."

D. Elbert Byrd, running without organized factional support for U. S. Senate, attacked Daniel B. Brewster, the candidate on the Tawes ticket, in a 5-page letter. Byrd said he was asking Brewster, now Democratic Representative from the 2nd District, for the 14th time to make a sworn public report of his finances. Byrd said Brewster had agreed to do so Jan. 30 at a political meeting in Laurel.

Byrd also recalled a later newspaper article quoting Brewster "that when I make a statement it is the pure and unvarnished truth."

Byrd said that if Brewster continues to fail to make a public statement on his financial transactions, "it will be a demonstration that you would prefer to be known as a liar to the whole state of Maryland."

Byrd particularly asked Brewster to substantiate his claim that he did not share in profits from Security Financial Insurance Corporation from which Baltimore County law partners received fees.

Auto Tags Expire In Md. Today

Today is the last day motorists in Maryland can display their 1961 license plates.

The tax office at the Allegany County Court House anticipates a busy three-and-a-half-hour working day today. Personnel will be on hand at 8:30 this morning to begin issuing new 1962 tags. The windows will close at noon.

Yesterday about 1,800 sets of new tags were sold at the office, according to William B. Orndorff, county tax collector, who said it was the busiest day so far. During the past two days about 2,600 sets of tags were sold.

New tags must be displayed by midnight today. Mr. Orndorff said a new set of tags, DA-89-72, was found along Oldtown Road Thursday.

The person to whom they belong is asked to bring his registration card and identification in order to claim them at the tax office.

Court Annuls Westernport Water Contract

City Can't Sell To Non-Residents

An opinion and order of court declaring null and void a 1949 contract between the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport and certain property owners in the village of Franklin to furnish water have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge W. Earle Coby.

By terms of this agreement, dated July 22, 1949, a two-inch water line in Franklin owned by Radie Arthur, Russell Arthur, Sheriff Truman, George McDowell, Dewey Skidmore, Carl Arthur, Calvin Shingler and Robert Lester Shaw, was conveyed to the City of Westernport and the city agreed to furnish water to the owners of the line at the same rate charged customers within its corporate limits.

The bill of complaint in this case alleged that the city instituted this action to set aside the contract because it had adopted the policy that excess water should be sold to non-residents on the conditions that (1) in the event of a water shortage the service to non-residents could be discontinued or limited and (2) that the rates to the non-residents should be higher than those charged to residents.

Judge Coby decided in his opinion that the Mayor and Commissioners of Westernport, under the present city charter, have no authority to sell water to any residents outside the corporate limits and consequently the contract between the city and the defendants is void.

The petition filed in this case also asked Judge Coby to determine the ownership of the water line mentioned in the agreement. In addition to the original owners, other persons have now tapped onto the water line. Judge Coby notes that no testimony or other evidence was offered as to the original cost of the water line, the amount paid by each of the parties toward it, the amounts paid by the three persons who later tapped it. Because the court is not in a position to pass upon the ownership, this question is reserved in Judge Coby's opinion.

Attorneys in the case were Horace P. Whitworth Jr. for the city and Estel C. Kelley and John M. Robb for the defendants.

Appeal Lost By Motorist

A sentence of one year in the Maryland House of Correction handed to a Frostburg area motorist on a motor vehicle violation earlier this year by a trial magistrate was upheld yesterday afternoon when a criminal appeal was heard by Associate Judge W. Earle Coby in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Charles A. Cooper, RFD 1, Carlos, was handed the sentence on February 12 by Trial Magistrate Edward P. Flanagan of Frostburg who found him guilty of operating under the influence (second offense).

Cooper was also sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction by Trial Magistrate Flanagan who found him guilty of operating a car without a license (revoked) at the same time.

However, yesterday Judge Coby sentenced Cooper to 60 days in jail on the charge and suspended it, placing the defendant on a year's probation.

About nine witnesses testified at the appeal hearing yesterday.

County Tax Rate Cut 25 Cents

$1.85 Per $100; Board Will Set Levy On Tuesday

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners unanimously decided yesterday to slash 25 cents from the tax rate for each $100 of assessable property, which will result in a tax rate of $1.85 per $100 of assessment.

A tax base of $178,000,000 will be used, giving the county a "cushion" of about $5,000,000 for the following year. An estimated $862,000 will be available in unexpended balance of the current budget.

The surplus, coupled with the more than $500,000 which the county will have received during the current fiscal year from state allocation of sales tax and cigarette tax monies resulting from Gov. Tawes' program of helping the counties finance their operation, was credited by the county tax rate reduction possible.

The commissioners can decide on the tax cut and rate prior to the levy-setting date of next Tuesday, when they will officially set the levy.

The county's economic status has grown in the past year to such an extent that more than $4,000,000 of added assessment was placed on the tax books from new residential, commercial and industrial buildings. The reassessment of some properties under the program required by the State Department of Assessment and Taxation places an additional $2,000,000 on the books.

It will be the largest single tax cut made by the county in many years and gives Allegany County the distinction of being one of the few counties in the state which will be cutting taxes this year.

It also marks the third consecutive year in which taxes have been cut after having been boosted 17 cents in one year. The new rate is the lowest since 1954, when it was $1.80. From 1955 through 1958 the rate was $2.05. In 1959 it was jumped to $2.22, was reduced in 1960 to $2.20 and in 1961 to $2.10.

Mahoney Gets Firm Backing From AFL-CIO

BALTIMORE (AP)—The statewide AFL-CIO union organization reaffirmed Friday an earlier decision to back George P. Mahoney for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Representatives of some 200,000 Maryland workers also voted to support Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large running on the Mahoney slate.

But Daniel B. Brewster, candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination on the primary campaign ticket headed by Gov. Tawes, won the organization's support over Blair Lee III, another running mate of Mahoney.

The Baltimore Council of AFL-CIO unions had urged the state labor group to split its ticket further and support Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Thomas B. Finan for attorney general, both Tawes ticket candidates. The suggestion was rejected.

The endorsements were announced by Woodrow F. Strong, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO, after a meeting of representatives to the union's Committee on Political Education.

The delegates represented local COPE committees in Western and Central Maryland, the Eastern Shore, Baltimore City and the Washington metropolitan area.

Strong said the state labor group considered recommendations from the local committees. The Western Maryland COPE planned to submit its recommendations on local candidates later, Strong said, although it already has announced its support of Mahoney and Sickles.

"That means the Western Maryland group will be engaged in an extensive campaign for Mahoney, Sickles and Brewster," Strong said.

Saying that more than 90 per cent of labor was represented at Friday's meeting, Strong claimed AFL-CIO affiliates which had not previously participated in the Mahoney campaign declared their intent to do so. The affiliated groups he mentioned include the steel (Continued On Page 13)

Beauty Of Woman On Show Of Week

"When it comes to women, all men are experts," said Cyril Ritchard. "At least we think we are."

The droll Australian actor was discussing his role as host of "The Beauty of Woman," a light-hearted analysis of the fair sex which the "Du Pont Show of the Week" will offer Sunday on NBC-TV.

"You might call this program a pot-pourri of pulchritude," said Ritchard. "For an hour, you'll see all sorts of people commenting on feminine beauty. Among our guests are Zsa Zsa Gabor, photographer Phillippe Halsman, novelist Katherine Anne Porter, Jimmy Durante and even my old friend, Hermione Gingold."

Does Ritchard have any thoughts of his own on the subject?

"I think it's easy to be beautiful when you're young, and nature hasn't played any of her dirty tricks yet," said the actor. "But to be beautiful when you are older . . . that's a real challenge."

"A good deal of beauty, I believe, is in a woman's eyes. If they're kind and soft, her other features are likely to be lovely as well."

Zsa Zsa Gabor, wearing a regal gown with a deep, plunging neckline, joined the conversation.

"Beauty frightens some men," she explained. "They won't let their wives wear too much make-up or low-cut dresses. I went with such a man once, but I broke up with him, of course."

A slightly different opinion comes from Hermione Gingold, best remembered for her role as Maurice Chevalier's vis-a-vis in "Gigi" and for appearance on the "Jack Paar Show."

"The best way for a woman to remain beautiful is to avoid other women," she said with a slightly fiendish gleam in her eye. "Men can be fooled. But other women know just how much make-up you're wearing, whether your hair is dyed and if you're tightly corseted in."

Before "The Beauty of Woman" was filmed, each of the guests was challenged to name the world's most beautiful woman.

"Elizabeth Taylor," answered Zsa Zsa Gabor.

"Susy Parker," replied Rita Bernard.

LILLIAN RUSSELL
'Loveliest Of Her Time'

"Jean Simmons," insisted movie director Richard Brooks, whose wife just happens to be Jean Simmons.

Then came Cyril Ritchard's turn.

"That's the most unfair question you can ask a man," he insisted. "If I have to single out one most beautiful woman from all the lovely creatures I've met, I'm bound to offend the rest. So perhaps I should stick to someone whose feelings can't be hurt, like Lillian Russell or Cleopatra."

In addition to the comments of the experts, "The Beauty of Woman" will feature hundreds of photos and drawings of great beauties, plus some rare film footage. This will give viewers a glimpse of such femme fatales as Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Brigitte Bardot, Madame Du Barry, Theda Bara, Marilyn Monroe and many more.

The most appropriate comment of all came from a cigar-chewing philosopher named Jimmy Durante.

"Girls," said Durante. "They're all great."

So Much Barking

When Bob Logan, the new parking lot attendant on "77 Sunset Strip," was asked if he could sing, the young actor qualified—or disqualified—himself with this answer: "Even my dog won't listen."

New Series Set

Jules Schermer, executive producer on "Lawman," is working on a new series, "The Dakotas" to star Larry Ward. The pilot film for the new show is now being made under the title of "A Man Called Ragan." Ward, incidentally, besides being an actor, is also a writer and was co-author of the recent Show of the Week program, "The Forgery."
